Getting in the light

01/02/18

Dear Diary, today we got electricity! I've been begging mum to get it for two whole years! I'm over the moon that we finally got it. Now I don't have to light a candle when i'm reading or writing. I got home from school to see the electrician installing a light bulb and a lamp into my room. I turned the switch on and it began to flicker. Once it was done flickering, it began to shine, glow, radiate. I had never seen anything like it. It was a yellowish gold colour. The electrician put lights all over the house. In mum and dad's room, my brother's room, the kitchen. Also we got lots of appliances. A cooker, a washing machine and lots more. We have had our electricity for one full hour now. It is so helpful and easy. I'm so excited to live my life with electricity. That's all for now I think. More updates soon!
