

Ellen Keane

Ellen Keane is a swimmer and a gold medalist in the paralympics. She was born April 6th 1995 in Clontarf, Dublin.

Ellen was born with an underdeveloped arm this means a bit of her arm was missing. As a child she was bullied and ashamed of her arm, but after a while she figured out that she should not be ashamed of it but proud.

Ellen started swimming when she was 2 years old and when she was 13 she swam in the paralympics. She was the youngest Irish athlete to compete in the paralympics.

If I could say anything to her I would say congratulations and you are a great role model.
