

Rachel Blackmore

Rachel Blackmore is an Irish hunt-racer. This is where it all started:

Rachel was born on a small farm, in Co. Tipperary. As she got older, she and her siblings, Charlotte and Johnathon, liked to help their parents, Eimir and Charles Blackmore, with the farm work.

At young ages, Rachel, Charlotte, and John, started to do racing pony camps together, however, Rachel enjoyed it the most, so she began to do some mini races.

Now, in her thirties, Rachel competes in Irish Hunt-Racing, and won very recently (15.3.22) on her horse Honey Suckel. Rachel is a true icon, as she was the first female Jockey to win the conditional riders title for young amateurs.

By: Matilda Denham