

Jacqueline Wilson

Jacqueline Wilson is a novelist, she was born on the 17 of December 1945. She is famous for writing novels such as: Hetty Feather, Love Frankie and Tracey Beaker. She writes about women who are brave and adventurous. Even though their characters are fictional they are so brave that they are an inspiration in themselves.

Jacqueline Wilson is also engaged to a woman which makes her more special and even though she has heart failure she still writes books. Jacqueline Wilson has inspired me to want to be a writer when I grow up.
