Suzanne Collins

Suzanne Collins is an American novelist and TV writer born in 1962. She was born in Hartford, Connecticut. She is best known for "The Hunger Games" and "The Underland Chronicles". Suzanne's father was a Chief in the Air Force so her and her family had to move regularly.

Suzanne was the youngest in her family so as a child she got less attention. Suzanne now lives in Connecticut with her husband and two sons.

Suzanne is truly an inspirational woman.
